

New Driver's License Rules Are Announced

Permits Will Cost $1.10 And Will Be Good For Two Years Under Next Year's Regulations

If you live in Alabama and want to drive a motor vehicle on the streets or highways, you must have a license. A driver's license will cost one dollar and ten cents and will be good for two years, unless the department has to take it away sooner for the safety of other drivers.

Every driver's license issued under the present driver's license law will expire on September 30, 1939. After that date there will be only one kind of license, viz: driver's license, which will be issued to both owners and non-owners of motor vehicles. If you are in possession of a valid driver's license, either owner or non-owner, on that date, all that will be necessary for you to obtain a new license will be, go to your Judge of Probate and make application under oath for a renewal of your driver's license upon a form that will be furnished him by the Director of Public Safety. At the time of filing this application you shall pay to the Judge of Probate a fee of $1.10 and he will give you a receipt therefor on a form provided by the Director of Public Safety, who will immediately examine the same, and if no legal reason for the denial of the issuance of such license appears, immediately cause it to be issued and mailed direct to you at the address shown on your application.

Examinations

Every person living in Alabama who does not have a valid driver's license on or before September 30, 1939, and desires to drive a motor vehicle on the streets or highways, must pass a satisfactory examination given by a Department of Public Safety examiner. The examination will be simply to find out three things about you before letting you use the public roads with a machine which can easily kill somebody.

First: If you are sound enough in mind and body to drive safely.

Second: If you know the things you should keep out of accidents and if you do these things easily when driving.

Third: If you are the sort of person who will really try to drive safely even if the other folks don't.

Grecian May Day To Be Celebrated at College

A Grecian motif will be carried out in May Day celebration to be held on the athletic field of Alabama College next Saturday, May 6, at 2 o'clock.

The queen of May, Aphrodite, is Marinelle Oliver with her escort, Best Citizen, as Pallas-Athene, who will be portrayed by Kathleen Williams. The heralds for the occasion are the class presidents, Ruth Harrison, Celia Methvin, Evelyn Mayhall, and Yancey Bailey.

Weaving the ribbons of the maypoles for the entertainment of the court are four groups composed of members of the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

MRS. YEAGER AND MISS CAHOON ATTEND MEETING

Mrs. Alice Yeager and Miss Pearl Cahoon attended the Southeastern Photographers Association convention and exhibit, April 24-26, in Atlanta, Ga.

They state that instructive features included lectures, demonstrations, and displays by the leading photographers and manufacturers.

Mrs. Yeager's exhibit was classed A, and received high rating on lighting, posing, and composition.

STUDENT PRESIDENT

Celia Methvin, of Roanoke, who will be president of Student Government Association of Alabama College during the 1939-1940 session, beginning next September.

Harmans Give Luncheon For Visiting Journalists

The group of visiting newspaper people who were at Alabama College for the Dancy Lectures by Dr. Douglas Freeman last week enjoyed the most delightful courtesy at the home of President and Mrs. Harman at a luncheon which they gave Friday in honor of Dr. Freeman.

In the group were noted the following Alabama journalists:

Carroll Kilpatrick, associate editor of the Montgomery Advertiser; J. F. Rothermel, of the Birmingham News; Ted Van de Veer, of the Birmingham Age-Herald; Gaston Bozeman, of the Evergreen Courier; Frank Grove, of the Alabama School Journal; Sam Adams, of Harpers publications; Gould Beech, associate editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald; Dr. Emmett Kilpatrick, president of the Alabama Writers Conclave; Charles G. Dobbins, director of publicity, Alabama College; W. M. Wyatt, of the Montevallo Times.

Other guests included W. W. Monroe, attorney, of Fayette; Dr. Henry M. Edmonds, of Birmingham; Dr. W. M. McCall, of the State Department of Education; Dr. T. H. Napier, dean of Alabama College; Dr. P. H. Burns, dean of Howard College.

The occasion afforded a never-to-be-forgotten opportunity for the visitors to enjoy the superb personality of Dr. Freeman who is at his best when he talks, laughs, jokes, and philosophizes in the mien of freedom and informality of a conversational group.

Every person who had the honor and pleasure of this occasion will always feel indebted to Dr. and Mrs. Harman for making possible for us one of the richest hours of life.

VAUGHANS ENTERTAIN ENGLISH STUDENTS

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Vaughan entertained with a delightful buffet supper on Saturday honoring the senior English majors and the English faculty of Alabama College.

Supper was served on the back terrace of the College View Apartments to about thirty guests.

College Students Receive Scholarships

Two students at Alabama College have received scholarships for graduate work during 1939.

Miss Katherine Kulp, of Birmingham, has received an award for work in library science at Emory University. She will receive her A. B. degree from Alabama College at the end of the present term. During her four years in Montevallo, Miss Kulp has been a member of the newspaper staff, the Student Senate, the orientation committee, Alpha Chi Alpha, national journalism sorority, and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society.

Miss Elizabeth DeBusk, of Rogersville, has received an appointment to Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, where she will receive training in dietetics. She will graduate from Alabama College with her B. S. degree this month. Miss DeBusk is president of the Dietetics Club, of which she is a charter member, and is a member of the Presidents Council.

ATTACK FATAL TO H. A. YOUNG, JR.

Anniston, Ala.—H. A. Young, Jr., president of the H. A. Young Insurance Company here and widely known as an athlete while attending the University of Alabama, died of a heart attack at his home Tuesday.

He was active in civic affairs of the city and at one time directed the Anniston Community Chest campaign.

He is survived by his father, H. A. Young, president of the First National Bank here; one brother, John Young, of Anniston; and one sister, Mrs. Charles Dobbins, of Montevallo.

Mrs. Sam Klotzman spent Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Margolis, in Montgomery.

Mrs. Olin Riser of Alpine spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. R. A. Reid.

L. & N. Engineer Dies In Calera

James Isaac Armfield, 57, veteran Louisville & Nashville locomotive engineer, died of heart attack at Calera Saturday night.

He was in charge of the Pan-American engine that left Birmingham at 9:10 p.m., and shortly before arriving at Calera told his Negro fireman, Will Steele, that he was going to stop at Calera. After bringing the train to a full stop, Armfield alighted and asked the fireman to get a doctor.

Dr. R. C. Curtis, who responded to the call, said Armfield died a few minutes after his arrival and that death apparently was caused by a heart attack.

Armfield resided with his family at 3023 Eleventh Avenue, North, Birmingham; was widely known in railroad circles, and held membership in the Shrine and other fraternal organizations. He had had the Pan-American "run" several years.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Vivian Berry Armfield; three daughters, Misses Jane, Bess, and Ann Armfield, Birmingham, and a sister, Mrs. W. A. Jackson, Mt. Airy, N. C.

Funeral services were conducted in the Norwood Methodist Church Sunday by the Rev. L. D. Patterson, burial following in Elmwood Cemetery, Brown-Service in charge.

Thomas H. Harper Died Last Friday

On the morning of April 28, 1939, God in his infinite wisdom saw fit to call home to his eternal rest our dear father and grandfather, Thomas Harrison Harper.

Our hearts are saddened by his departure, but Heaven seems nearer and brighter. Among his children, grandchildren and friends he always spread a ray of happiness with his sunny smile. His life was a shining example of true Christianity. He bore his suffering with bravery and fortitude from beginning to end.

He was born May 18, 1853, and in his early youth became a member of the Baptist Church and was a loyal worker for the cause of his Master.

While a young man, he was married to Mary Ann Arnold and to this union was born eleven children, six of whom preceded him to that better world.

He is survived by three daughters, Miss Minnie Harper, Mrs. F. M. Draper, Mrs. Ernest Lucas, two sons, John R. and Richard L. Harper; two brothers, J. E. and G. F. Harper; thirty-three grandchildren, twenty great-grandchildren, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Services were held Sunday morning, April 30, at Elliottsville Church the Rev. Hubbard officiating, with Brown-Service in charge. Interment was in the adjoining cemetery beneath a bank of beautiful floral offerings. The Masons officiated at the grave.

We miss him so much but our loss is Heaven's gain.

One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is stilled,
The place made vacant in our home

Can never more be filled.
Our Father in his wisdom called
The boon his love had given;
And though on earth the body lies,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TONIGHT AT PALMER

The Senior Class of Alabama College will present the class play, "Torchbearers," at Palmer Hall tonight at 8:15.

Direction of the performance is in charge of Miss Ellen-Haven Gould.

Dial System To Be Installed By End of July

Complete New Set-up in Facilities Will Be Made By Telephone Company in Montevallo

The new terminal building which will house the exchange and operating plant of Montevallo's new dial telephone system is about completed. It was erected by Dr. L. C. Parnell, and will be leased to the telephone company for a period of years. The location is on the south side of the block near the Lyman home.

Miscellaneous work by telephone engineers has been in progress for the past sixty days, making preparations for construction of the new system. New cables will be installed in many parts of the city. A general replacement and relocation of poles and wires will be effected. The entire outside equipment of the telephone system throughout the city will be overhauled from beginning to end, according to a statement by district manager, Graves.

"The new system will be completely installed and ready to put into operation during the last week of July," said Mr. Graves. About the same time a new dial system will also be cut in at Calera.

Under the new set-up Montevallo's long distance connection will be direct with Birmingham, thus eliminating all intermediate connections which have been necessary heretofore.

"New dial systems recently put in operation at Centreville and West Blocton are proving highly satisfactory to our customers in those communities," said Mr. Graves.

Supper Given For Dr. Freeman

A distinctive social event during the visit of Dr. D. S. Freeman to Montevallo was the buffet supper given at Brookewood, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Chamberlin.

Hostesses on Thursday evening were Miss Myrtle Brooke, Miss Dawn Kennedy, Miss Minnie L. Steckel, Miss Katherine Vickery, Miss Hallie Farmer, Miss Josephine Eddy, Mrs. Isobel Bruce, Mrs. A. W. Vaughan, and Mrs. Chamberlin.

Guests who were served on the grounds of the Chamberlin home included Dr. and Mrs. Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin, Miss Dawn Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Oberdorfer, Miss Brooke, Mrs. Bruce, Dr. Steckel, Dr. Vickery, Miss Ellen-Haven Gould, Dr. Farmer, Miss Eddy, Mrs. Nannie Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Emerson, Mrs. Marie Bankhead Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Dobbins, Dean and Mrs. T. H. Napier, Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Harman, Dr. and Mrs. Noble Kendrick, Mr. Sam Adams, Dr. W. M. McCall, Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Edmonds, and Dr. Freeman.

Following the supper guests adjourned to Palmer Hall for the concert of the college orchestra and the lecture of Dr. Freeman.

BUSINESS WOMEN ELECT NEW OFFICERS

At a called meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, held at the St. George Hotel Monday night, May 1, Dr. Anne L. Eastman was elected president for the year 1939-40. Other officers are first vice president, Mrs. S. M. Mahan; second vice president, Mrs. R. B. Hicks; secretary, Miss Wilma Baugh; and treasurer, Mrs. P. E. Woolley.

Members were reminded of their invitation to attend the annual banquet of the Secretarial Club of Alabama College, to be held Thursday evening, May 18. Miss Frances Maule, of New York City, national publications chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Club, is to be the honored guest.

ALABAMA COLLEGE GETS UNIVERSAL COMPLIMENTS

Much has been said and written in compliment to Alabama College by prominent people who visited Montevallo last week for the Dancy Lecture series by Dr. Douglas S. Freeman.

Among the best of the editorial comments we have seen is that of the Birmingham Age-Herald Tuesday, which we reproduce in full below.

Realizing an Ideal

Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, editor of the Richmond News-Leader, prefaced the last of his three Dancy Foundation lectures at Alabama College Friday night, with a moving, not in the least merely courteous, declaration that he had never encountered a finer spirit on a college campus than at Montevallo and that he had never enjoyed a more delightful visit. There were many other visitors to Montevallo for this notable event who evidently felt as did Dr. Freeman, even though they were not themselves a center of attraction or guests of honor.

The personality and the versatile genius of Dr. Freeman were, of course, enough in themselves to make any such occasion an exceptional interlude for those fortunate enough to have attended these lectures and the supplementary programs.

Dr. Freeman is not only one of the first-rank American minds of this day. He is more than his remarkable, many-sided, widely-achieving career, embracing distinguished work as an editor, a biographer, a teacher both of journalism and of military history and a civic servant in many activities. That which is perhaps most remarkable of all about him is the stimulating, heart-warming spirit that is behind all his achievements. He is a man, one feels, who is living life on the upper level—keenly alert and broadly aware in mind, deeply engaged and stirred in spirit and, above all, committed to the service of the highest. It is a deeply renewing experience to meet and sense such a spirit.

But there were other realities in Montevallo besides Dr. Freeman that were exceptional. There was that unmistakable spirit of the college, its teachers and students and its beautiful campus, to which Dr. Freeman testified.

And there was the whole idea and spirit of this event.

Dr. A. F. Harman, president of the college and his associates, undertook to establish, and set out toward the realization of, an ideal in this two-day Dancy program. They conceive of these biennial lectures, maintaining a distinguished standard and with particular relation to the culture of the South, as affording the occasion for an unusually enjoyable and rewarding gathering of Alabamians particularly interested in intellectual and cultural matters.

The first series of these lectures surely exemplified that ideal and brought a large measure of its realization.

Foundation addresses of this kind aspire, of course, to something beyond the more or less routine lecture, even when delivered by a distinguished speaker. They command the very best effort. They strive for the heights. Such deliverances, therefore, may be very unusual. They may be lasting contributions to scholarship and literature. Consequently, they may well attract exceptional audiences. They may become great occasions. It is this ideal that Alabama College has for the Dancy lectures. And in an ideal that now, in Dr. Freeman's inaugural address, in the surrounding program and in responsive audiences, has had an initial and inspiring fulfillment. May the tradition grow.

Montevallo is a charming place for such gatherings. Its location is at the very center of the state. Moreover, it usually does people good to make a little extra effort and shake themselves out of their routine in order that they may participate in an exceptional event. Alabama College should and will know many more such rich days as last Thursday and Friday.

It thus will be having an increasing part in the extra-curricular contributions which universities and colleges nowadays are making in broadening scope to the educational, intellectual, and spiritual life of their sections.

It will be deepening the awareness that education is something that goes infinitely onward, and, when wisely pursued, grows more enriching as the pursuit continues.

VISITORS HERE FOR THE FREEMAN LECTURES

Visitors to Montevallo last Thursday and Friday for the Dr. Douglas Freeman lectures represented a full range of patrons of the arts and sciences, including leaders of thought and seekers of truth from many parts of the state.

While the editor of The Times did not have the pleasure of seeing and greeting nearly all of them, may we be pardoned to mention this partial list of the guests:

Carroll Kilpatrick, associate editor of the Montgomery Advertiser; J. F. Rothermel, of the Birmingham News; Ted Van de Veer, of the Birmingham Age-Herald; Gaston Bozeman, of the Evergreen Courier; Frank Grove, of the Alabama School Journal; Sam Adams, representing Harper's publications; W. W. Monroe, of Fayette, now a lawyer, erstwhile prominent Alabama educator; Gould Beech, associate editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald; Dr. Henry M. Edmonds, of Birmingham; Dr. Emmet Kilpatrick, of Troy State Teachers College, and president of the Alabama Writers Conclave; Dr. W. M. McCall, of the State Department of Education; Neil Sterne, capitalist and financier, of Birmingham; Leo Oberdorfer, of Birmingham.

We were glad to see all of them, and greatly enjoyed a few hours of informal association together. Particularly were we pleased to see Gaston Bozeman, because he is one of our own tribe of Alabama newspaper editors. Then there was the keen personal gratification at seeing again our old friend and first high school teacher, W. W. Monroe, of Fayette. Likewise, meeting Sam Adams again was nothing short of greeting an old friend from home, whom we had not seen in a long time.

It was a most delightful gathering of kindred minds, inspired and refreshed by mutual exchanges of ideas, and, as one of the number said, "elevated in worship at the feet of the great Dr. Freeman."

VISITORS PRAISE OUR BAND FOR FRIDAY'S PERFORMANCE

Montevallo's High School Band stood up in front of the great gathering of visitors here last Friday, and did itself proud in the rendition of a magnificent open-air concert on the Alabama College campus.

This was a wholesome and impressive contribution to the series of programs in connection with the inauguration of the Dancy Lectures at the college.

Comment upon the concert by many of the visitors gave evidence that they meant more than the usual courteous references to make the musicians feel good. It was a deep realization with them that the fine leadership of the director, Mr. York Kildea, and the equally fine efforts of the band members has developed into a musical organization of efficiency which is rarely found among young people in the towns and cities of Alabama.

Let yourself go, band! You are doing a big part toward putting over the Montevallo spirit.

Some of these days you will have those uniforms which you so fully deserve.

EXPLANATION

A superstitious subscriber wrote to an editor saying that he had found a spider in his paper and asking whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The editor wrote this answer:

"Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace."

WE WILL JINE UP WITH YOUR NEW SOCIETY

One of the editors of the Birmingham News, while visiting Montevallo last week, "took-out" to find and to see the geographical center of Alabama, which is reported to be cached somewhere in this vicinity.

After returning to his editorial sanctum, and after due reflection upon the incidents of his quest, the editor writes as follows in Tuesday's News:

Wanted: A Geographical Center For Alabama

This newspaper is organizing a new department. It will be called the Bureau for Locating and Marking the Geographical Center of Alabama. The B. L. M. G. C. A. is the outgrowth of a recent trip to Montevallo. Down there we were told that the geographical center of Alabama was about two miles away, on a farm near the Shelby-Chilton County line.

It occurred to us that there might be some sort of a thrill in standing at the heart of Alabama, knowing that in every direction in which one turned there stretched away the same amount of red earth and sand and clay and rocky hillsides which we all fondly claim as our state. There was a vague symbolism in the thought of being at the hub of the state.

We went a-searching for the spot. A weatherbeaten farmer near the designated area helped out. "Up there near the cemetery," he said, "is where they all say the center of Alabama is. I wouldn't be knowing." A cemetery seemed a strange place, maybe, for the geographical heart of Alabama. Nevertheless, up there on that little knoll with its scraggly pines there was a pile of rocks which had been described as the only marker for the spot. Once, the farmer said, some plowshares had been placed over there as an additional marker, but maybe the Japanese had come along to take the old iron plowshares to make them into bombs to drop in the heart of China.

Maybe the spot was not the geographical center of Alabama. But the good folks of Montevallo and the farmer on the land certainly think so. If the center does lie there, it ought to be marked by more than a pile of stones. That's no way to treat the heart of Alabama.

Hence the B. L. M. G. C. A.

We will jine up with your proposed society, even if we do wind up in a cemetery, for that is what all of us will do anyhow, whether we ever find the center of Alabama or not.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends for their expressions of kindness and sympathy shown during the recent illness and death of our dear father and grandfather. Dean And Mrs. Napier Honor Seniors

On last Saturday afternoon, April 29, from four until six o'clock, Dean and Mrs. T. H. Napier were at home to the members of the senior class of Alabama College. This was the first of a series of entertainments planned for the class of '39.

The Napier home was most attractive in its decorations throughout with snapdragons, calla lilies, roses, peonies, and daisies—all in pink and white, the class colors.

The tea table was exquisite, centered by a crystal bowl of lilies, roses, daisies, and snapdragons and crystal candelabra in which burned white tapers. The class colors were further carried out in the refreshments.

Presenting the guests to the receiving line, which was composed of Dean and Mrs. T. H. Napier, Miss Vickery, Miss Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hood, was Cella Methvin, president of the junior class. Other juniors who assisted were Madie Belle Ward, Josephine Baldwin, Barbara Peck, Martha Terry, Bettie Archibald, and Mary Belk.

Others who honored the seniors by their presence upon this occasion included Dr. and Mrs. Harman, Mr. and Mrs. Wills, Mr. and Mrs. Dobbins, Mesdames Burton, McNeill, Snodgrass, McCoy, Dr. Peck, Misses Kemp, Tillman, Claybrooke, and Steckel.

To receive her guests, Mrs. Napier wore a deep rose colored gown of chiffon and lace with a cascade of sweet peas and carnations.

Miss Rennie Honored With Shower

Miss Blanchann Fraser and Miss Frances Ribble were hostesses Saturday afternoon when they entertained with a shower complimenting Miss Eleanor Rennie who will be married in the summer.

The affair was in the form of a garden party and took place on the lovely back lawn of the College View Apartments.

Guests were greeted at the front by Miss Lorraine Pierson and Miss Margaret Cook and escorted to the rear lawn where they were received by Misses Rennie, Ribble, and Fraser.

Mrs. J. T. Bagwell presided over the attractive array of gifts. Refreshments were served by Misses Ellen Preuit, Kate Corcoran, and Naomi Favor.

Sixty guests called during the afternoon.

A delicious breakfast was prepared and served by the girls.

Those who attended the party were Eloise Argo, Lucile Anderson, Gertrude Kirkley, Bessie Warren, Georgia Mae Kendrick, Evelyn Sanderson, Martha Thomas, Elsie Burgin, Frances Lemley, Mary Holcombe, Sarah Houston, Daisy Lucas, Margaret Tibbs, Juanita Griffin, Kate Bowden, Mary Nell Gen-

PLACE OF POWER AND WORKSTOCK ON FARMS

Hartselle, Ala.—Speaking of power and workstock on a farm and the part they can play with proper attention brings to mind what C. C. Tucker, farmer of Falkville, Morgan County, is doing. Not only does this progressive farmer take care of his work animals, but he has gone into the power producing business on his farm, according to B. G. Hall, county agent. The other day Hall visited Mr. Tucker and here's what he found in the lot:

One brood mare which Mr. Turner valued at $150; one 3-year-old filly; one 2-year-old mule; and one 1-year-old mule colt. These last three animals were valued at $375, the income or saving to Mr. Tucker for three years of good care to a brood mare.

Flowers Need Water And Mulch

Auburn, Ala.—One of the major problems soon to be faced by growers of flowers and shrubs is that of providing sufficient water to keep these plants alive and growing through the hot dry summer months. There is no magic solution for providing this water, but the amount necessary to add or the degree of damage to the plants from not adding any can be materially reduced by placing a good mulch around these plants.

Shrubs and trees planted during the past season are going to be particularly in need of a mulch which will hold the rain water that falls and any that is added, according to Homer S. Fisher, extension landscape gardener. A good mulch of pine straw, leaves, peanut hulls, peat moss, or similar material will shade the ground around the plants, absorb and hold the water near the plants, and reduce the amount of grass and weed growth around the base of the plants. Grass and weeds if permitted to grow around such plants, will get a large part of the water and plant food that should be available for the shrubs and trees.

A mulch around roses, possibly covering the entire bed in the rose garden, is decidedly worth consideration. The increased vigor in growth, the decrease in the amount of work in cultivating the plants, and the reduction of the amount of water to be added will more than offset any danger of this material holding diseases and insects.

Annuals and perennials respond favorably to a good mulch. A mulch should be applied around these plants as soon as they are large enough to be covered by the material. Such material as peanut hulls, peat moss, and cottonseed hulls are suitable for covering annual and perennial beds. If cottonseed hulls are used, they should be worked up occasionally due to the fact that they tend to pack.

Before applying a mulch around any ornamental plants the soil should be loosened and all weeds and grass should be removed.

510 DAYS FOR GAME LAW VIOLATION

It did little good for Willie Shields, Montgomery Negro, to appeal his game violation conviction to circuit court. The higher court fined him $208.50 more than the original fine. Convicted and fined $271.00 last December on 11 counts of shooting banded quail on a restricted area, not having a license, and attempting to sell the birds, Shields appealed to circuit court and the case was tried before a jury this month. He was found guilty on nine counts and total fines were $479.50. Unable to pay the fine, he was sentenced to 510 days of hard labor. The Negro was known to game wardens as a market hunter in the Montgomery section. Solicitor Winston Huddleston, of Wetumpka, prosecuted the case before Judge Arthur Glover.

DEEP SEA FISHING RODEO DATES

The 11th annual Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo in lower Mobile Bay will be held this year on August 14, 15, and 16, and some 600 deep sea anglers from more than a score of states are expected to attend. Several committees are already at work on plans for the event, and W. M. Thoss, of Mobile, president of the rodeo association, predicts the biggest and best rodeo in history. Prizes worth several hundred dollars will be awarded the lucky anglers. For information, write to Rodeo Headquarters, Mobile, Ala.

WHAT THEY SAW

When They "Stepped Through" Their Alabama Power Company ELECTRIC BILL

"More for my money than from any other bill I pay."

"A company that has done more for the development of Alabama than any other organization."

"What would the schools do without the millions of dollars in taxes paid by Alabama Power Company?"

"I don't see how you give such dependable, constant service for so little money."

THANK YOU, all of the thousands of you who accepted the invitation to write us what you saw when you "stepped through" your electric bill! We haven't announced the winners of the one hundred $5 checks sooner, because the judges, thirty representatives of Alabama Power Company holding responsible positions, had a difficult time making their decisions. Among those who wrote were persons in every walk of life . . . mechanics, farmers, business men, public officials, housewives, students, doctors, ministers, teachers, office and factory workers. So that no judge would be influenced by possible acquaintance with the writer of a letter, or the kind of paper it was written on, the quality of penmanship, or an occasional misspelled word, all letters were copied, spelling corrected, given a number and submitted to the judges without the writers' names. You will recall that in our contest advertisements, we stated that it would be the ideas that would count, rather than your ability as a penman or a "fancy" letter writer.

Again, to all of the thousands of you who wrote, thank you!

Vulcan To Be Dedicated

"Vulcan," world's largest iron figure and the second largest statue in America, will be formally dedicated with a mammoth spectacle, staged at the foot of the statue on Red Mountain May 9-17. Visitors from every state in the union are expected to attend the event, which will be one of the outstanding civic affairs ever held in Alabama.

A Vulcan Dedication Committee is making plans for the celebration. Erskine Ramsay, capitalist and philanthropist, is president of the committee and Howard B. Richards, general manager of the Birmingham Water Works, is executive chairman.

Nationally known theatrical directors have come to Birmingham to select a cast of 1,000 persons and direct rehearsals for the spectacle, which has been written around the history of Alabama's natural resources and the mythological story of Vulcan.

The spectacle will be an elaborate display of fast moving pageantry, gorgeous costumes, and spectacular lighting effects, and the event will attract many nationally known celebrities to Alabama.

Among the special events being planned will be a Religious Night, and Alabama Night, a Labor and Industry Night, Agricultural Night, and governors from several southern states will be presented one night during the celebration.

Vulcan was cast in a Birmingham foundry in 1903 from pig iron produced in the Birmingham district, and sent to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904. Recently he has been placed on a 124 foot pedestal atop Red Mountain, overlooking the business section of the city. It is second only to the Statue of Liberty and with its pedestal, is taller than Niagara Falls. It is the only statue in the world erected to the natural resources of a state and symbolizes the wealth of minerals found in Alabama.

The Vulcan dedication celebration is being sponsored by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce and other civic interests.

"FARM CLEAN-UP WEEK" TO HELP LIVESTOCK FARMERS

Auburn, Ala. — This is "farm clean-up week" in the major farming states of the Mississippi Valley.

In these states, farmers have been asked to devote at least one day this week to cleaning up barnyards and livestock quarters, to reduce the annual livestock losses caused by yard-borne diseases. Co-operating in the effort are local veterinarians, extension workers, sanitary authorities, and others interested in the welfare of the livestock population of this area.

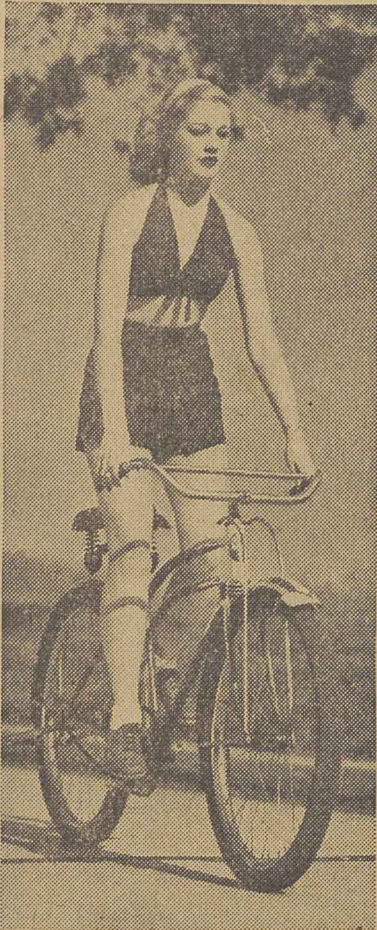

"This annual spring clean-up can reduce the toll of livestock disease at least one-fifth," says the special clean-up week bulletin issued here today by Dr. I. S. McAdory, state veterinarian.

"Farmers are especially urged to burn old straw stacks, drain mud holes and wallows, fence off manure piles, board up holes and burrows under barns and sheds, scrub feed boxes, clean and disinfect all livestock quarters, and eradicate rats, mice, pigeons, and sparrows which may carry the germs of disease from one farm to another. Many serious livestock diseases are carried over from one year to the next in old, contaminated lots and quarters. A day spent in cleaning up these sources of infection may save the farmer a number of valuable animals this year."

Leaders reported today that they were especially fearful of increased danger from hog cholera this year, due to a thirty per cent increase in the number of cholera outbreaks last season. As a result, efforts are being made to have a larger share of this spring's pig crop vaccinated against the disease.

A supply of feed grains per animal unit about the same as the pre-drought average is in prospect for the 1939-40 season, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports. The supply is expected to be smaller than last year, however. This prospect for the 1939-40 feeding period, the bureau said in its spring outlook issue of the Food Grain Situation, is based on 1923-32 average yields, normal abandonment on prospective plantings, and an allowance for a considerable increase in the livestock population, particularly in hogs and poultry.

KEEP THAT SCHOOLGIRL FIGURE

Mary Beth Hughes claims that there is no better way to keep that school-girl figure than to do a little outdoor bicycling. Stiffening the legs with strong downward emphasis on pedaling is a grand reducing exercise for thighs and hips.

GET READY TO BATTLE BUGS

Auburn, Ala.—"Before the bugs start the war, make your own preparations," states J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department at Auburn, in advising farmers to get a good supply of derris, the one poison that will control most of the garden insects.

Derris is a comparatively new insecticide to most people, although it has been known to entomologists for years. It is manufactured by curing and pulverizing the roots of the derris plant. Derris is extremely poisonous to chewing insects, but is not very poisonous to human beings and domestic animals. Neither does it burn the foliage of plants.

Derris is most effective in controlling bean beetles, cabbage worms, potato beetles, tomato horn worms, and most other insects that devour the foliage of the plants. When mixed with sulphur, it is effective against red spiders and some plant diseases. It has given fair results in controlling pickle worms and melon worms in squash, cucumbers and cantaloupes. However, it alone is not very effective in controlling plant lice, Herleguin cabbage bugs, squash bugs, and most other sucking insects. And derris is not effective against cut worms.

The chief killing agent in derris is rotenone, which loses its killing power after about one week's exposure to sunlight. Rotenone is especially important because the strength of the derris is expressed in terms of the percentage of rotenone it contains. When ready for general use, the derris should contain at least five-tenths per cent rotenone.

Derris may be purchased ready for use or it may be purchased in a concentrated form containing four per cent rotenone. If it is bought in the concentrated form, it will require a mixing with sulphur. For this purpose, superfine dusting sulphur seems to be the best, being mixed—7 parts sulphur to one part derris. It is usually cheaper to mix the derris at home but it is difficult to obtain a mixture as good as is made by the commercial machines.

Derris may be bought from any wholesale druggist, feed and seed store, or Farm Bureau Exchange at a very reasonable price.

For further information on derris, Mr. Robinson suggests that farmers see their county agent or write the Experiment Station, Auburn.

The 1939 indicated acreage for soybeans grown alone for all purposes in the United States is about 12 per cent larger than the acreage in 1938, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

BROTHERHOOD CLASS

We are very much pleased with the interest of both old and new members in our class each Sunday. It makes us feel good each Sunday morning when we look around and see faces that used to come and members of our large class of men and boys in 1913-14 and before the war. We can build our class back up like it was then if you will only come. Be one of us next Sunday morning. The place is the basement of the Baptist Church, time, 9:45.

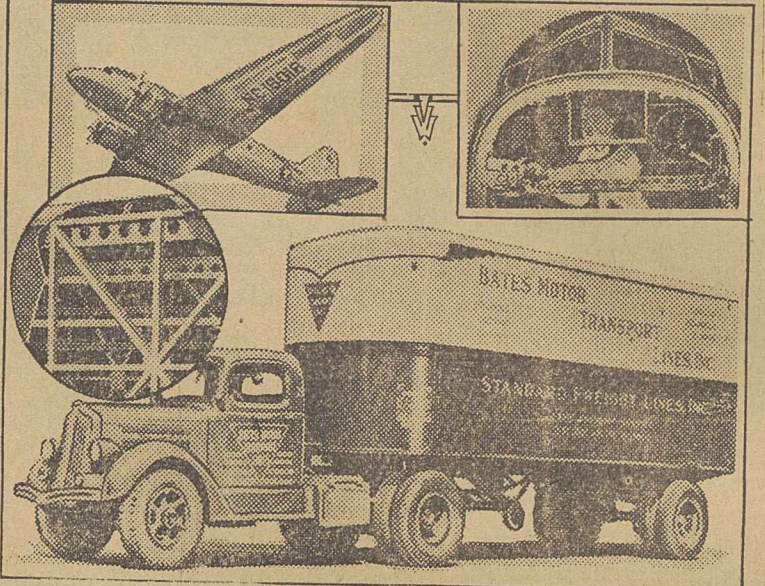

Members present last Sunday, April 30, were S. J. McGaughy, class president; R. L. Griffin, teacher; Milton Jeter, secretary; J. R. Lewis, B. B. Nix, S. R. Woolley, John Nix, Pelham Thomas, Jr., J. L. Bridges, W. D. Carver, C. B. Blankenship, A. W. Day, W. N. Robinson, Travis Killingsworth, J. A. Love, Dr. Charles T. Acker, Dr. J. I. Reid, Hugh Horn, Clyde Gardner, Jr., Jack Wood, George McGaughy, Herman McGaughy, Mack Nix, J. T. McGaughy, Frank Moody, M. L. Orr, Charles Dobbins.

4-H CLUB BOYS WIN GOOD PIGS

Grove Hill, Ala. — Four Clarke County 4-H Club boys, who won a purebred gilt each in an essay contest, are now selling 31 registered Duroc Jersey pigs. The good part, says County Agent O. C. Helms, is that most of the pigs are staying in Clarke County to assist in improving the quality of hogs produced there.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Norton and their two daughters, of Frisco City, visited Mrs. George DeShazo Sunday.

Airplane Construction Boosts Highway Transportation Efficiency

THE airplane is showing highway transportation what can be done in eliminating useless dead weight. A modern transport plane such as the 21-passenger Club Flagship shown in this illustration weighs only 8 pounds for every pound of passengers or freight carried. Not long ago airplanes weighed 20 pounds for every pound of payload. The elimination of useless weight was such a vital consideration in airplane design that an entirely new technique of construction had to be evolved to solve the problem.

Men in the haulage business have appreciated the developments in construction in the airplane industry and are adapting it to highway transportation use. Outstanding among these new developments is the Fruehauf 9erovan shown here. This spectacular new trailer gets a new high in its ratio of payload to vehicle weight. The saving in weight accomplished by the new airplane structural design as shown in the circle to the left of the illustration with punched-out, high-yield-point Yolo steel frame members and square tube struts with strong, light-weight, aluminum alloy side panels amounts to over three-quarters of a ton as compared with the preceding model of the same capacity. Note the similarity to the structure of the airplane shown at upper right.
